At the entrance of Davis Wright Tremaine, a law firm in Seattle, guests are greeted with a subtle array of natural colors, tones, and materials. Setting a calming yet eye-catching backdrop to the entry's reception desk, Plectere Aline in 100 Wollweiß is right at home with the space's neutral palette, offering playful patterning that helps keep the sound down while allowing natural light to filter through.

The hanging panel in 100% Wool Design Felt is perfectly complemented by the waiting area's green bench, plant life, and other natural materials, including wood and marble, offering guests a calming space to check in and touch down.
