Following a recent merger, HF Sinclair sought the guidance of Corgan's workplace interiors team to design a headquarters that would reflect the brand's new identity and transformation, all in a new location in Dallas that connects employees to the surrounding neighborhoods and amenities. Corgan's thoughtful approach guides employees through carefully planned spaces throughout the office's 90,000 square feet, which foster social and collaborative interactions. This strategy reinforces the organization's strength, provides a distinctive gathering space for all employees, and ensures the office adapts to the evolving needs of work.

In a shared conference room, Corgan chose 100% Wool Design Felt in 150 Weiß for a plank installation that creates a calming yet dramatic backdrop for a bench lining the perimeter of the space. ARO Plank helps keep the sound down and creates a captivating statement that echoes the space's rounded walls.

Nearby, ARO Plank in Spinneybeck upholstery leather in a vibrant green adds color and patterning to a shared touch-down space where staff can gather or use for personal heads-down time. Constructed with España, a high-performing yet supple upholstery leather that's perfect for high-traffic areas, the ARO Plank banquette provides a durable yet cozy space for social or collaborative purposes.
