Award-winning global design firm, IDEO, knows an innovative material when they see it and their San Francisco offices feature FilzFelt Custom Hanging Panels. These 4'-0" x 11'-8" (1.2 x 3.5 meter) custom panels feature 1½ inch (3.8 centimeter) circle perforations and grommets for hanging. Since Jensen Architects designed the space to encourage overlap and communal interaction, these oversized panels slide along a custom rail to create acoustic separation with visual transparency. The flexibility allows the kitchen and meeting space to become one large room at a moment's notice and when open, the panels smartly stack to one side. This project won the 2013 IIDA Northern California Notable Award for Work Small.
