When Office Resources—a furniture dealership that carries the likes of Knoll, Niencamper, and Maharam—moved to their new home in the hip, industrial neighborhood of Fort Point, a focus on the lines they carried was no doubt a priority. However, the desire for a more flexible (and yes, open) work area created a need to provide some flexible space separation. Custom Hanging Panels feature the company's logo in a bright orange and slide on a four-channel Hanging Panel Track System. These soft but sturdy panels provide visual separation but can easily tuck away to connect the café and work areas.
